
Solar panels are considered illegal construction

Are solar panels illegal?

Technically, no state outlaws or bans solar panels; quite the opposite. Most states have solar access laws that forbid any agreement, covenant, condition, bylaw, or contract that outlaws or limits solar installations by Homeowners Associations (HOA) or other municipal bodies.

Should solar panel installation be classified as construction?

I would suggest solar panel installation could be classified as construction. I do not want some PAYE inspector making that ruling. So any advise or advise on where to look (been to HMRC website and lots on CIS but not who is considered a contractor in the building industry.) Are plug-in solar panels illegal?

Since plug-in solar panels are not installed by a licensed electrician or signed off on by your utility company, they may actually be illegal in some areas. Plug-in solar panels violate many local utility codes because they feed electricity into a home circuit without dedicated shutoff and safety features.

Do building regulations apply to solar panels?

Where the property is in a conservation area, is a listed building or part of a World Heritage site for example, Permitted Developments will not apply and an application will have to be made to the Local Planning Authority. Building Regulations will always apply as solar panels significantly increase the weight of a roof.
